3D Machine Company, Inc., established in 1996, offers a wide range of precision machining and assembly services. From simple to complex, working with aluminum, steel, plastics, titanium and inconel. No job is too difficult or impossible and each job is backed by our solid reputation for outstanding quality.

ISO 9001 & AS9100 Certification

At 3D Machine Company we are continuously working to improve our quality and delivery performance. We are proud to announce that we have received ISO 9001:2008 and AS9100 rev B certification from NQA Global Assurance. Our certification is a confirmation of the hard work by the entire 3D Machine team; and continues our tradition of uncompromising quality, reliable, on-time deliveries, and outstanding customer service.

ISO 9001 and AS9100 are internationally developed and recognized standards for business management and quality assurance, specifically designed to achieve significant improvements in quality and safety, and reductions in cost, throughout the value stream. Our entire organization is committed to delivering top-quality products, on time, at competitive prices; and our ISO 9001 and AS9100 certification is a powerful testament to the streamlined and cost-efficient manufacturing environment at 3D Machine Company.
